Stuttgart Tax Center to Open

The Stuttgart Tax Center will begin preparing 1999 federal and state tax returns Jan. 31. Just show up with your documents and the center's staff will take care of the rest.

Such documents include W-2 forms from all jobs, social security cards for all persons listed on the return, a blank check and names, addresses and tax numbers of child care providers. In addition, taxpayers should also bring any Form 1099 and 1098 received in the mail, a schedule of alimony paid or received and a copy of last year's tax return. Those who filed a 1044 last year must bring all other records regarding rental properties, sale of a home, investments, foreign tax or wage records, medical expenses, state or local taxes paid in 1999, gifts to charities and job-related expenses. To file a joint return electronically, both spouses must be present or have a power of attorney to be able to sign for an absent spouse.

The center's service, offered by IRS-trained professionals, is free and available to all identification cardholders. Electronic filing ensures accuracy and quick refunds. Legal assistance attorneys will also be available to counsel clients with complicated tax issues.

The Tax Center is located in building 2316 on Patch Barracks. Hours are Mondays through Fridays 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., with expanded hours of 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. beginning March 15. Don't wait until the last minute! Questions? Call 430-6893/civ. 0711-680-6893.

Easy-Off Oven Cleaner Recalled

DeCA distribution centers and commissaries throughout Europe have been instructed to immediately remove one particular lot of Easy-Off Heavy Duty Oven cleaner because of a defective spray mechanism. The oven cleaner's contents can unintentionally spew out because of an improperly attached valve assembly in the product's spray top. To date, there have been 18 reports of these cans spewing oven cleaner, resulting in 12 reports of chemical burns to consumer's skin and eyes. All of these reports are stateside incidents. Identifying information for this manufacturer's recall is as follows: Easy-Off Heavy Duty Oven Cleaner 16-ounce aerosol can, UPC: 06233800138, Lot#: B9305-NJ2 (printed on the bottom of the can).

Consumers should not remove the cap of this oven cleaner, but should wrap the recalled can in several layers of newspaper, as a precaution, and return the product to the commissary for a full refund.

SPORTS & FITNESS

Find Time for Fitness

Just as people may be giving up on their health-related New Year's resolutions, Fitness Fair experts can renew enthusiasm Jan. 29 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Patch Barracks gym.

On-site experts will be analyzing feet to help individuals choose the proper running shoe. Other health care providers will be offering physical assessments, practical advice for proper food choices, blood pressure screenings, advice on choosing the right bicycles, giveaways and information about aerobics groups and walking clubs.

Civilian employees can get information about the Civilian Fitness Program, a Department of the Army program that allows civilian employees three hours a week of excused absences for exercising over a period of six months with continuous monitoring.

Teens may also register for the new Youth Orientation Program that instructs youth on the proper use of exercise equipment at fitness centers. Call Dianne Stolberg, 430-4073/civ. 0711-680-4073, for details.

Youth Earn Exercise Alternative

As the result of customer feedback, the opportunities for 14 to 15 year olds at fitness centers have been stretched, enabling them to use equipment with little or no supervision.

With a new Youth Orientation Program, youth ages 14 and 15 will be offered safety tips, training techniques and the knowledge of proper equipment use, ultimately earning an exception to the current 6th Area Support Group policy. Those who successfully complete the program can utilize cardiovascular and weight resistance equipment without a parent or guardian.

The first training session will be Feb. 16 from 6 to 8:30 p.m. at the Panzer Fitness Center.

According to the current policy, ages 16 and older are allowed unrestricted use of all fitness center facilities and equipment without being accompanied by an adult. Without training, ages 14 to 15 without training can use cardiovascular and weight resistance equipment with supervision from a parent or guardian and are entitled to unrestricted use of all other facilities. Ages 10 to 13 are prohibited from using cardiovascular equipment and weight rooms but are offered unrestricted use of other areas such as basketball and racquetball courts.

The breakdown in ages and entitlements was dictated by American Academy of Pediatrics, American College of Sports Medicine and the National Strength and Conditioning Association recommendations, recognizing risks at different ages.

With such risks in mind, officials are exercising precaution while also adding opportunities for those 14 to 15 year olds who are mature enough to operate equipment alone.

Upon training completion, youth will be presented a Youth Orientation Program card to be presented prior to their workout.

By continuing training, youth may also extend their opportunities to include the use of free weights with supervision – a privilege not granted before the policy was amended.

Call the Youth Services Sports Office for details, 431-2616/civ. 07031-15-616.
